

A message from the director

Welcome to the Department of Licensing's website. Our goal is to make this site a resource for you to easily access information whenever you need it.

I'm a strong believer in delivering the best possible service to the citizens of Washington. As director of this agency, I continue to challenge Licensing employees to find new and more efficient ways of doing business. This website is a result of their efforts to provide 24-hour self-service to our customers. I believe it furthers our goal of making it easier and more convenient to conduct business with the Department of Licensing.

We are committed to providing prompt and professional assistance and would appreciate feedback on the services we provide. If you have feedback to share, please email us.
